Compensation

Authority members would be authorized to receive compensation, including per diem and mileage reimbursement.

All invoices would be required to be held for five years and subject to an audit by the Director of Taxation.

agencies, but the bill would require the Authority to utilize competition among contractors and vendors to the extent practicable under the circumstances, at the discretion of the Authority.

Severability

The bill's provisions would be severable. If any provision of the bill, or its application to any person or circumstance, is found to be unconstitutional or invalid, the rest of the Act would continue to stand and would be enforceable so long as

The bill was introduced by the House Committee on Appropriations at the request of Representative Tarwater.

House Committee on Commerce, Labor and Economic Development

Opponent testimony was provided by two private citizens. The opponents generally stated the bill would raise taxes on Kansans.

No other testimony was provided.

Fiscal Information

According to the fiscal note prepared by the Division of the Budget on the bill, the Office of the Attorney General states there could be some litigation risk with passage of the bill; however, the Office is not able to estimate the associated litigation cost. The Kansas Department of Revenue indicates the bill would have foregone tax revenue that would occur as a result of the various tax exemptions authorized by the bill but it is unable to provide an estimate.

The Office of Judicial Administration states the bill could increase the time spent by judicial personnel and also increase the collection of docket fees, fines, and supervision fees that would be deposited into the State General Fund but it did not provide an estimate of the fiscal effect.

The Kansas Bureau of Investigation and the Department of Commerce both state the bill would not have a fiscal effect. Any fiscal effect associated with the bill is not reflected in The FY 2027 Governor's Budget Report.

The Kansas Association of Counties indicates the bill would not have a fiscal effect on counties but cities could incur costs if they assist with the local infrastructure located around the sports facility. Cities could also experience increased economic activity associated with the sports facility. However, the League is unable to estimate a precise fiscal effect.
