We thank you, Almighty God, for this day that we gather in this place where your people assemble for just deliberations and legislative actions. Direct, in our time, we pray, those who have been elected as the chosen leaders of the State of Kansas. Help these women and men engage in civil discussion and right actions for the benefit of all. Continue to call forth our leaders to be honest and able. Help all of them to seek just and fair ways to respond to the many and varied needs of the poor and the rich, those who live in rural areas and those in cities, the young and the aged, women and men and those from different cultures and differing abilities. Give our leaders wisdom, charity, and justice; that with steadfast purpose they may faithfully serve in their offices to promote the well-being of all people; also bless those who serve faithfully in the armed forces of this land and this state. We give you thanks for the faithful and graceful leadership of those who serve, especially thanking you for the leadership of General Greg Gardner. We make these prayers in Your most Holy Name. Amen

REMARKS BY MAJOR GENERAL GARDNER

President Kerr and members of the Senate, thank you for honoring me with the resolution and your kind words. I served Kansas in three roles: leader of the Kansas National Guard, Director of Emergency Management, and as our state's Homeland Security Advisor. I would like to take a few moments to thank you from each perspective.

First, as leader of the Kansas Army and Air National Guard, I would like to thank you for passing the "Aging Armories" Bond Bill. It is allowing us to renovate our 40-50 year old armories, bringing them up to code compliance and making them a place from which our soldiers effectively serve and train. Senator Kerr your leadership in 2000 as Chairman of Ways & Means was critical to the success of that effort.

Twice you all amended the statute affecting Guardsmen called to State Active Duty. You simplified and raised the compensation for the lowest ranking enlisted soldiers called to respond in times of disaster. In this post 9-11 world, should a catastrophic event require calling Guardsmen to state active duty over 30 days, the statute now provides reimbursement for health care. Although a very unlikely event, National Guard families are comforted knowing when their Guard member is called to duty, sacrificing family and employer time, they do not have to sacrifice the family's health care as well. Thank you Senator Atkins for your help writing that one.

Last year, led by Senator Morris, you passed the Veterans scratch lottery ticket to help fund the National Guard Tuition Assistance program. I bought my first lottery tickets last fall, and while I did not win, our citizen soldiers and airmen did; this provided a real boost for recruiting and retention.

As Director of Kansas Emergency Management, I would like to thank you for passing the Emergency Management Assistant Compact. The EMAC established the legal and financial requirements for mutual aid among the states in times of disaster. Senator Oleen, in addition to introducing the bill, your amendment that made EMAC effective upon publication of the register, allowed Nebraska to help in the April 2000 Parsons Tornado. Since then, EMAC allowed us to fight fires in Montana and Oklahoma with our Blackhawk helicopters and Angee Morgan, the Emergency Management Human Services officer went to help at the World Trade Center shortly after 9-11.

Senator Schmidt, you led the effort in 2001 prior to 9-11 that gave Kansas the capability to respond to agricultural terrorism by expanding the governor's disaster authority to animals; extending the duration period in 30 day increments until the situation is under control, and adding teeth to the penalties for the intentional introduction of agricultural agents like foot and mouth disease.

As the Director of Homeland Security after 9-11, I want to thank you for making the use of the Incident Management System (2002) mandatory in all disasters-this is the system that facilitates responders at all levels (federal, state, and local) working together in a common structure using common terminology. The system is likely to become the law of the land in the next couple of years. You all also approved the use of a regional approach to emergency management that is essential for homeland security preparedness across the whole state of Kansas. Senators Brungardt and Emler your leadership on both was critical.

I could go one by one around this chamber and tell you how you helped us make this all happen. Although much of your business remains a mystery to me, I learned a little about your processes. For example, I learned passing bills often depends as much on what is not added to them as what is in them. For that I have many to thank, among whom are Senators Downey and Steineger - your leadership was pivotal not only supporting the bills but on several occasions precluding unfavorable amendments.

Over the last five years many in this chamber visited and thanked our citizen soldiers and airmen as they trained at Fort Riley, McConnell AFB, Forbes Field and in our local communities; when they responded across the state to tornadoes, floods, ice storms, gas explosions, and other emergencies; and as they kept the peace around the world in places like Bosnia, Turkey, Germany, France, and Italy. Your presence with those Kansans spoke volumes about your support of their service and sacrifice. I encourage you to continue to support Kansas citizen soldiers and airmen who so faithfully serve their fellow man. I would also ask you to support Tod Bunting as the new Adjutant General. He is an intelligent, hard working Kansas Guardsman who is committed to the needs of Kansas.

It was a distinct honor to serve and to work alongside professionals like you and our dedicated National Guard members and families. Thank you for helping make Kansas a safer place to live, work, and play. Goodbye and God bless you.

Accompanying General Gardner were his wife, Kimberly; a friend, Jefri Leonardi and church pastor, Darrel Proffitt.
