MINUTES OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

The meeting was called to order by SENATOR JOSEPH C. HARDER at Chairperson

1:30 XXX/p.m. on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1985 in room 254-E of the Capitol.

All members were present except:

Committee staff present:

Mr. Ben Barrett, Legislative Research Department
Ms. Avis Swartzman, Legislative Revisor's Office
Mrs. Millie Randell, Secretary

Conferees appearing before the committee:

HB 2144 - School district equalization act, definition of taxable income, limitations, capital outlay interest earnings. (Education)

Mr. John Myers, Director of Policies, the Governor's Office

Proponents:

Mr. Craig Grant, Director of Political Action, K-NEA
Mr. Onan Burnett, USD 501, Topeka

The Chairman called the meeting to order and announced that the hearing on HB 2114 will continue. He recognized Mr. John Myers, Director of Policies, the Governor's Office, whose testimony is found in Attachment 1. In response to questions, Mr. Myers replied that $100 million would be considered a workable ending fiscal year balance. In reply to another question, Mr. Myers stated that a one-half cent sales tax increase would equate to an $86 million increase in state funds in the first year and an increase in excess of $100 million in state funds the second year.

The Chair then recognized Mr. Craig Grant, Director of Political Action, Kansas-National Education Association. Mr. Grant stated that the key element in his testimony (Attachment 2) is that all districts have interest on idle funds.

When Mr. Onan Burnett of USD 501, Topeka, testified in support of HB 2144, he offered some recommendations for the Committee to consider: an increase in budget authority, additional state aid, and a request that interest from the capital outlay fund be included in the district's general fund budget base.

The Chairman announced that the hearing on HB 2144 was concluded.

The Chair then called upon Mr. Dale Dennis, Assistant Commissioner for Education, State Department of Education, who explained how the addition of a linear transition for state aid purposes in the fourth enrollment category would result in shifts in state aid among districts. Mr. Dennis used the chart on Attachment 3 to help illustrate his explanation. In response to Committee inquiry, Mr. Dennis said he would bring printouts to the Committee to show the shifting that would occur from such a change.

The Chairman announced that action will be taken on HB 2144 tomorrow to move it out of Committee for consideration by the full Senate next week. He then adjourned the meeting.

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

John Carlin Governor

Testimony to
Senate Education Committee
Regarding House Bill No. 2144
by John Myers
on March 19, 1985

Mr. Chairman, Committee Members:

I am here representing Governor Carlin today to ask this Committee to support House Bill 2144, as originally introduced. This bill, as introduced, included the Governor's Fiscal Year (FY) 1986 recommendations for school finance, pre-school special education services, elimination of the impact of the "booster tax" on the distribution of school aid and a provision allowing transfers from the interest monies earned on capital outlay funds to the general funds of school districts.

Under the Governor's school finance proposal, state aid to school districts, including general aid and the income tax rebate, would increase by $ 67.1 million in FY 1986. Budget limits of 106 and 112 percent are recommended, along with a one-year extension of the authority given school districts last year to transfer monies earned from the interest on capital outlay funds to their general funds. These recommendations, taken together, would allow an average increase, statewide, of 10 1/2 percent for teachers' salaries and would result in an estimated $45 million property tax increase. Given average growth in property valuations, this would translate into an average increase statewide of approximately 2.3 mills. State support to school districts under these recommendations would increase from 45.7 to 47.2 percent.

The Governor was very encouraged last year by the Legislature's and local school districts' support for our primary-secondary educational system. Given the level of state support available, districts responded positively to achieve an average 9.75 percent teacher salary increase. The Legislature sent a positive and important signal to teachers and the educational system last year. It is doubly important that we not renege on what was the beginning of a genuine effort to remedy a gross inequity in the compensation received by teachers in this State. Bright and talented teachers are fundamental to the continued success of our educational system. And the quality of our educational system will continue to be critical to the economic success of our State.

Despite economic difficulties, recent polls continue to reflect a willingness by the public to contribute more tax dollars to improving education.

The fact that teachers are underpaid can be clearly documented. I hope you will take time to review the attached information. I hope, also, that you will consider the actions we have taken over the past few years to ensure increased accountability from the teaching profession. We have increased requirements for entry into schools of education. We have passed legislation requiring teacher certification testing. We are encouraging school districts to strengthen their in-service requirements. And, we have endorsed an intern program that new teachers will eventually have to complete to gain full certification.

These all hold the potential for generating positive improvements in our educational system. Major problems will beset the system, however, if there are no candidates willing to accept these challenges. And one has to wonder how many bright young people will be willing to pursue a low-paying profession which requires more and more accountability, with no consistent signal from us that their contribution to society is valuable or appreciated.

The Governor is extremely disappointed in the House's treatment of school finance and the approach taken to the issue this year. The halls of the Capitol were full of rumors early in the Session that orders had come down to hold the increase in school finance to 30 million dollars for Fiscal Year 1986. Subsequently, House Bill 2144 and the Department of Education's budget were amended to accomplish this pre-determined goal. This kind of an approach reflects poorly on a process which is supposed to include some objective consideration of education's needs as well as those of the entire State.

The Governor took note of recent comments in the press by a House member who said that the Governor was wrong if he thought that the public would sweep legislators out of office for being "fiscally responsible." The Governor made an announcement regarding his own future plans prior to the beginning of this Session which should have dispelled any suspicions that the program he is recommending for the future of this State is politically motivated. When he assessed education's needs and the progress for Kansas which could be achieved through a modest, broad-based tax increase, he did not contemplate who may or may not be swept in or out of office in future elections. He concluded that the goal of being "fiscally responsible" could only be accomplished through a willingness to address the problems we face in critical areas such as education and economic development and through the wisdom to recognize the benefits which will accrue to every Kansan if we seize the opportunity to invest now instead of procrastinating while our competition outstrips us.

For all of the talk in the House about a "budget freeze" and no tax increase for education, the Governor has found it interesting to note the tax increase they recently passed to fund the special interests they have prioritized.

The Governor is not saying that the problems identified by the House should not be addressed. To the contrary, he agrees that there is a need for additional revenues to address a range of basic needs important to this State's future. And he would further argue that a quality educational system is the fundamental building block upon which all else depends.

The Governor asks only that this Committee objectively assess the needs of education and amend House Bill 2144 to ensure a level of state support which will sustain the progress begun last year.

In addition to underfunding school finance, the House did not support the Governor's and the Board of Education's recommendation to include 4-year old, handicapped children in the school equalization aid formula. For a modest $ 614,000, we could begin to address the critical needs of these special children in our State who want and deserve the best opportunity possible to overcome their handicapping conditions so they can grow into productive, self-sustaining adults.

This proposal has evolved from the dedicated and thorough work of the Task Force on Pre-School Handicapped Children, appointed by the Governor in 1983 to assess the benefits of early education and training for the handicapped. Their work is supported by a multitude of national reports in which experts and professionals in the area of special education attest to the advantages of early intervention. Advantages accrue not only to the children who will be better served and, thus, better prepared to live as independently as possible, but to the State in the form of lesser demand for assistance to this group in later years.

In closing, Mr. Chairman, I would simply reassert the Governor's hope that the progress achieved through last year's commitment to education will be sustained by this legislative body. To interrupt the progress curve for even one year could set us back of our competitors for many years to come.

RE: Summary of Teachers' Salary Paper

Salary range is a very real issue of concern for teachers in Kansas. The average annual entry level salary for Kansas teachers is lower than that of comparable professionals in state government and in the private sector. On a nine month pay scale a majority of the professional positions in state government and the private sector, requiring a bachelor's degree, receive higher salaries than teachers. Positions in the state system that require teaching often are paid less than are teaching positions in the district school system using a nine month salary comparison.

A couple of studies indicate that the primary factor influencing teachers to leave the profession was financial. Teachers have greater desires for monetary rewards than other benefits such as leave, aides, etc. "Many departing teachers stated that they did not feel that they were being remunerated sufficiently, given their educational/experiential background."

Kansas Civil Service vs. Teaching

KNEA reports that the average entry level salary for a Kansas teacher in 1983-84 was $13,694. The average entry level salaries for Kansas civil service employees in comparable professional positions are considerably higher than the entry level salary of Kansas teachers. Even with a nine month salary scale, a majority of the comparable professional positions in state government are paid higher entry level salaries than are teachers. State employees were paid between $215 and $2,869 more than teachers, on a nine month basis.

The average annual entry level civil service salaries of positions in the job family titled, "Teachers & Extension Workers" are considerably greater than corresponding public teachers' salaries. These specific job classes pay between $2,314 and $11,884 more than public teaching positions. The higher the education and experience level required, the higher the salary paid by the state system compared to public school district systems.

MEMORANDUM TO: Governor John Carlin
Page Two

Those jobs in state government that are described as teaching, on a nine month salary scale, are generally paid less than corresponding public teachers. Public teachers' salaries are between $1,093 and $2,284 greater than state government employees who teach using a nine month salary comparison.

Private Sector vs. Teaching

National annual salary offers from the private sector range from $2,962 to $12,047 greater than entry level Kansas teachers' salaries. A nine month salary comparison of offers from the private sector further indicates that a majority of these salaries are higher than the average entry level salary of Kansas teachers.

Attached are the conclusions of the research into salary comparisons of teachers versus comparable professions.

Hope this is helpful. I am at Health & Environment, 862-9360, in Personnel, if you have questions.

CR:ca

The purpose of this paper is to compare Kansas teachers' salaries to salaries of other comparable professional positions within the Kansas State Civil Service System and the private sector. Comparable professional positions to the teaching profession are defined as those professions requiring a bachelor's degree.

All too often, teacher's salaries are compared with those of all local and state employees. Using this comparison nationally and in Kansas, teachers fare better than local and state employees. For example, the average salary/wage of local and state government employees in Kansas in 1982 was $16,248(1) while the average Kansas teacher's salary was $18,231(2). This method of analysis is very misleading. A more appropriate comparison is to examine the average entry level salaries offered to teachers versus state employees of comparable professions.

KANSAS CIVIL SERVICE vs. TEACHING

The Kansas-National Education Association (KNEA) reports that the average entry level salary for a Kansas teacher in 1983-84 was $13,694.(3) Salary offers differ from the various school districts with a low of $10,200 and a high of $16,686.

Table I, on the following page, shows that the average entry level salaries for Kansas civil service employees in comparable professional positions are considerably higher than the entry level average salary of Kansas teachers.

**Calculations were made by averaging the salaries of all entry level positions (requiring 4 years of college) in job families that correlate with the curriculum or specific job description. Those positions requiring 6 months to one year's related experience are included, as teachers are required to have student teaching experience.

- (1) Administrative & Managerial positions
- (2) Salary level ranges from $14,640 to $20,868.
- (3) Only four positions have entry level status.
- (4) Entry level for Chemists is $16,728 and is included in the Physical and Earth Sciences average figure.

State employees in comparable professions to teaching had average annual entry salaries ranging from $3,241 and $8,390 greater than the average annual entry level salary of teachers. Presumably, salary ranges set by civil service attempt to start jobs requiring a bachelor's degree at range 18 which has an annual starting salary of $16,008 and a master's degree at range 20 which has an annual starting salary of $17,484.

Interestingly, the entry level salaries of state employees in comparable professions requiring a bachelor's degree received from $2,235 to $7,384 more than the average entry level salary of teachers with master's degrees. The average entry level for a teacher with a master's degree is $14,800(3). Salary offers for teachers with a master's degree differ among the various school districts with a low of $11,167 and a high of $17,300.

Many people argue that teachers work only nine months per year, so twelve month salary comparisons with other professions are not valid. Even with a nine month salary scale, a majority of the comparable professional positions in state government are paid higher entry level salaries than are teachers (see Table II). State employees were paid between $215 and $2,869 more than teachers, on a nine month basis. However, the average entry level salaries of jobs in the Marketing and Distribution, Humanities and Social Sciences, and Biological Sciences' professions received respectively $383, $917 and $993 less than the average entry level teachers' salary.

*1983-84 gross salaries/wages excluding benefits taken from the "KS State Civil Service Salary Plan," effective FY 1984 to January 15, 1984. Teachers' Salary from KNEA, "USD/SEC Salary Schedules 1983-84."

In the civil service system, a job class is a position name such as Accountant, Chemist or Education Director. Job classes which require the same level of skill, training, education, licensing and credentialing are grouped into a job family. Within the job family titled, "Teachers and Extension Workers," there are 14 job classes which require a bachelor's or master's degree. Table III illustrates the education and experience required for the specific job classes and corresponding annual and nine month scaled entry level salaries for positions in the job family titled, "Teachers and Extension Workers." Corresponding public teachers' average entry level salaries of equivalent education and experience are also listed.

Table III shows that the average annual entry level civil service salaries of positions in the job family titled, "Teachers and Extension Workers" are considerably greater than corresponding public teachers' salaries. These specific job classes pay between $2,314 and $11,884 more than public teaching positions.

Comparisons on a nine month scale of the civil service salaries for those in the "Teachers and Extension Worker" family with public teachers' salaries, show that public teachers' salaries are generally slightly higher. In eight of thirteen classes, the public teachers' salaries are between $306 and $2,260 higher than corresponding state salaries. However, it should be noted that the higher the education and experience level required, the higher the salary paid by the state system compared to public school district system.

Job descriptions for classes within the "Teachers and Extension Workers" family describe duties as: teaching and administration, teaching and evaluation, primarily administrative or primarily teaching.

Table IV, on page 7, examines the average annual and nine month scale salaries of the state jobs that specify teaching as a responsibility, and compares public teachers' salaries. In conclusion, Table IV shows that those jobs in state government that are described as teaching, on a nine month salary scale, are generally paid less than corresponding public teachers. Public teachers' salaries are between $1,093 and $2,284 greater than state government employees who teach using a nine month salary comparison.

PRIVATE SECTOR VS. TEACHING

Table V on the following page depicts national averages of salary offers to bachelor degree candidates in various professions comparable to teaching. According to the Kansas State and University of Kansas Placement Centers, average monthly salary offers in Kansas from the private sector to students with bachelor's degrees are very similar, but usually slightly higher ($5.00 to $20.00) in comparison to national figures for similar groups.

National data, depicted in Table V, shows that the average annual salary offers from the private sector to bachelor's degree candidates in professional positions comparable to teaching are considerably higher than the entry level average salary of Kansas teachers. National annual salary offers from the private sector range from $2,962 to $12,047 greater than entry level Kansas teachers' salaries. A nine month salary comparison of offers from the private sector further indicates that a majority of these salaries are higher than the average entry level salary of Kansas teachers. Again, the Marketing and Distribution, Humanities and Social Sciences and Biological Sciences professions, on a nine month pay scale, received slightly less than the average entry level salary of Kansas teachers. Agricultural Science and General and Business Management fields on a nine month pay scale also received slightly less than the average entry level salary of Kansas teachers.

Salary range is a very real issue of concern for teachers in Kansas. A study conducted by Jerry G. Horn of Kansas State University showed that the primary factor influencing teachers to leave the profession was financial.

- 1) Horn, Jerry G., "Administrative Support & Financial Remuneration as factor in Teachers' Decision to leave the Profession" Center for Extended Services, Manhattan, Kansas. August 1983.

This study also showed that teachers have greater desires for monetary rewards than other benefits such as leave, aides, etc.

Another report from the Professional Teaching Standards Advisory Board, February 27, 1981, shows that as a group, financial reasons were the most influential in teachers' decisions to leave the profession. "Many departing teachers stated that they did not feel that they were being remunerated sufficiently, given their educational/experiential background."

In summary, the average annual entry level salary for Kansas teachers is lower than that of comparable professionals in state government and in the private sector. On a nine month pay scale a majority of the professional positions in state government and the private sector, requiring a bachelor's degree, receive higher salaries than teachers. It should be noted that positions in the state system that require teaching often are paid less than are teaching positions in the district school system using a nine month salary comparison.

Craig Grant Testimony Before The

Senate Education Committee

March 20, 1985

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Members of the Committee, my name is Craig Grant and I appreciate the chance to visit with you about school finance and particularly HB 2144. Although school finance deals with many aspects, I want to concentrate today on only one--teacher salaries.

Four years ago, Kansas-NEA established a goal in regard to teacher salaries. We did that after much thought about the practical aspects and possible political implications of our action. We thought that a long-range goal would be more appropriate. The goal was to have the Kansas average teachers' salary at least equal to the national average by the 1986-87 school year.

K-NEA chose the national average because of a number of factors. At the time we ranked 36th in teacher salaries and 14th in per capita income. That spread was the largest of any state. Kansas-NEA also noted that Kansas teachers also prepare their students well--we rank 4th in average ACT scores and do very well also on SAT tests. In sum, Kansas-NEA saw our teachers doing a good job, but felt that they were underpaid in relation to other teachers in other states.

However, Mr. Chairman and Members of the Committee, Kansas-NEA did not address just salaries. We also sought to upgrade the already good job teachers were doing. We put together a comprehensive program which did the following:

ATTACHMENT 2 (3/20)

Craig Grant Testimony Before Senate Education Committee, 3/19/85, page two

1. Required a certification test for new teaching applicants;
2. Required a one-year internship for new teachers; and
3. Requested funds to improve in-service education for teachers already teaching.

We combined these with our salary proposal to build the Kansas Plan. That plan has been endorsed, at least the concepts within it, by a number of people and groups.

The time frame is half over. Progress has been made. Kansas has moved from 36th to 30th in teacher salary ranking. The certification test is going to be in place. The internship and in-service programs are ready for implementation. Kansas-NEA desires to keep progressing. In order for progress to be made in teacher salaries, we need another significant increase this year. If we are to reach that goal, we need to have budget lids higher than 4-8%, certainly no less than 6%. We need to look together for ways that will allow this to happen.

One of the problems of supporting this or any other school finance plan is that the lids are considered in isolation of funding. Logical questions of funding sources, property tax increases and distribution of state aid are certain to arise. Usually the reaction to these questions is to pass lower budget lids automatically. I would submit to you that the need, as recognized by the school boards, administrators, teachers, legislators, etc., is too often overshadowed by what funding source should be used.

When looking for ways to fund higher budget lids, the legislature has looked to the two basic sources of funding - state aid and local property tax. I would like to suggest one additional source of funding which could make a significant impact on funding higher budget limits. That source is money which is already in existence - interest earned by school districts on idle funds. Presently, interest on idle funds cannot be used in the general fund. Interest earned on capital outlay must be deposited in that fund, but all other interest can be deposited in any special fund outside the general fund. I am suggesting that these funds could help districts fund a higher budget for 1985-86.

I have included a printout which shows each district, the amount of unencumbered cash balance at the end of last year, the interest earned last year and into what fund it was deposited. Also, as part of the printout, the percent of the general fund budget is indicated. The key element of this concept is that all districts have interest on idle funds. Even our favorite, Galena USD 499, made $155,892 or 7.38% of its general fund in interest on idle funds. That would equate into a 30-35 mill decrease if used in the general fund.

Our proposal may be unique; but these times call for creative solutions. We would ask that you consider increasing the budget lids to at least 6% at the lower end and allow districts to utilize interest on idle funds to assist in the funding. We also hope that increased state aid, certainly above the $30 million mark, can help drive the property tax down.

In the tough times which are upon us, we need to give boards of education the ability to use as many resources as possible. We believe that higher lids are essential to keep progressing as we have in the last two years. The increased lids and flexibility to fund will give districts options to:

1. Not increase their maximum authority;
2. Increase their maximum and fund their budgets with state aid and property tax increases;

3. Increase their maximum and fund their budget with state aid, property tax increases, and interest on idle funds; or
4. Some combination of the above.

We hope this committee will give schools those options and teachers the chance to increase their salaries.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman and Members of the Committee, for listening to the concerns of teachers.
