

2012 Kansas Statutes

17-5566. Same; conditions to operation and use of; exceptions. As a general condition to the operation and use of any remote service unit in this state, a savings and loan association, which desires to operate or enable its customers to utilize a remote service unit must agree that such remote service unit will be available for use by customers of any other savings and loan association, upon the request of such association to share its use and the agreement of such association to share all costs incurred in connection with its development, installation and operation. The owner of the remote service unit, whether a savings and loan association or any other person, shall make the remote service unit available for use by other savings and loan associations and their customers on a nondiscriminatory basis, conditioned upon payment of a reasonable proportion of all costs incurred in connection with the development, installation and operation of the remote service unit. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, this section shall not require that remote service units located on, or a part of, the physical structure of the home office facility or branch office facility of any savings and loan association be shared with any other savings and loan association.

History: L. 1975, ch. 128, § 2; July 1.