

2012 Kansas Statutes

17-5568. Same; security measures as a condition for operation. A savings and loan association shall take all steps necessary to protect the association's interest in the financial transactions processed at each remote service unit, including the installation, maintenance and operation of one or more appropriate security devices and the acquisition of available fidelity, forgery and other appropriate insurance. Appropriate security devices as a condition for operation of a remote service unit, where the remote service unit is unmanned, shall include, but not be limited to: a lighting system for illuminating such unit during hours of darkness; tamper-resistant locks on the exterior unit; an alarm system or other appropriate device for promptly notifying the nearest responsible law enforcement officers of an attempted or perpetrated robbery or burglary; security provisions that will not allow the data communications linkage to be vulnerable to a wire tap or intervention from a foreign source; and such other devices as the security officer for the savings and loan association shall, after seeking the advice of law enforcement officers, determine to be appropriate for discouraging robbery, burglary or larceny and for assisting in the identification and apprehension of persons attempting such acts. Security devices as a condition of operation of a manned remote service unit shall include, but not be limited to: security provisions that will not allow the data communications linkage to be vulnerable to a wire tap or intervention from a foreign source and such other devices as the security officer for the savings and loan association shall, after seeking the advice of law enforcement officers, determine to be appropriate for discouraging robbery, burglary or larceny and for assisting in the identification and apprehension of persons attempting such acts.

History: L. 1975, ch. 128, § 5; July 1.