

My name is Meagan White, and I am a lucky momma to 2 beautiful, special children that have been effected by seizures since they were babies. Kaity is 11, and Kayd is 7. Throughout their lives they have tried just about every seizure medication on the market. Some have worked better than others, none have completely kept the seizures away. They are both on a "cocktail" of pills that make them very lethargic, even obtunded at times, sometimes even tired enough that they forget to breathe. This is very scary for us as caregivers! We know that this is from the medications, as we have "played around" with the medications (under the doctor's care) and their level of consciousness changes with medication change. Unfortunately, with decrease of medication, as can be expected, the seizures increase. The situation feels like a lose-lose.

I have prayed for a miracle. I feel like a miracle would be the ability to use medical cannabis for my children. I have done more research than I knew possible, and I have many friends that have had the opportunity to move to a state where using cannabis was legal. I have seen firsthand through videos and other documentation the changes in their children! I yearn to see this change in my babies! I want them to live life again without having to fear the side effects of the medications and without having to worry about seizures! I also do not want to have to uproot my family. As a divorced mother, I do not want to have to tear my children away from their father, grandparents, and other supports. Please consider passing Claire & Lola's Law for families like mine, for children like mine. We NEED this.
